New Stadium Series Recycling Containers Combine Functionality and Aesthetics

Cincinnati, OH – Stadium Series recycling containers combine functionality with aesthetics to complement existing site furnishings in a wide variety of indoor and outdoor applications. Made of heavy gauge steel, these attractive containers include a durable plastic liner and are available in 20 and 55-gallon capacities. Stadium Series receptacles are powder coated in a variety of colors or they can be painted to match existing colors to complement any décor. Standard models feature a recycling logo, and can be customized with school, company or municipality logos to promote “green” efforts and build brands. They are ideal for parks, recreation areas, arenas, stadiums, schools, public buildings and more.

Stadium Series recycling containers are ideal for all types of recycling. Servicing is easy with lift-off tops which are available in domed configurations for 2-stream recycling, or with slotted openings for newspaper collection, or round openings for cans or bottles. The largest, 55-gallon containers are available with dual liners for 2-stream recycling in a small footprint, or with one liner for single-stream collection. Anchor kit and lid cable are provided at no additional cost to secure the site furnishing and deter vandalism. Bases can be dipped in Plastisol for added durability.

“We’re excited about these recycling solutions from Witt” says company Witt President Tom Dorger. “When schools, municipalities and other organizations add their logos, their recycling containers seamlessly match existing site furnishings and color schemes. With the Stadium Series, being green has never been easier – or looked better.”
